

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

To Liberty, whose gracious smile
Shed peace and plenty o'er the Isle,
Our grateful Ancestors, her plain
But saithful Children, rais'd this sane.

Full in the Front, stretch'd out in length,
Where Nature put forth all her strength

Where our brave Fathers us d to train

Their Sons to Arms, to teach the Art

Of War, and steel the infant heart.

LABOUR, their hardy Nurse when young,

Their joints had knir, their nerves had strung;

Abstinence, soe declar'd to death,

Had, from the time they first drew breath,

The best of Doctors, with plain food,

Kept pure the channel of their blood;

HEALTH in their cheeks bad colour rise,

And Glory sparkled in their eyes,

The instruments of Husbandry,
As in contempt, were all thrown by,
And, slattering a manly pride,
War's keener tools their place supplied.
Their arrows to the head they drew;
Swift to the point their javelins slew;
They grasp'd the sword, They shook the spear;
Their Fathers selt a pleasing fear,
And even Courage, standing by,
Scarcely beheld with steady eye.

Each

Each Stripling, lesson'd by his Sire, Knew when to close, when to retire, When near at hand, when from afar To fight, and was Himself a War.

Their Wives, their Mothers all around,
Careless of order, on the ground
Breath'd forth to Heav'n the pious vow,
And, for a Son's or Husband's brow,
With eager fingers Laurel wove;
Laurel, which in the sacred grove
Planted by Liberty they find,
The brows of Conquerors to bind,
To give them Pride and Spirits, fit
To make a world in arms submit.

What raptures did the bosom fire Of the young, rugged, peasant Sire, When, from the toil of mimic fight, Returning with return of Night, He saw his babe resign the breast, And, smiling, stroke those arms in jest, With which hereaster he shall make The proudest heart in Gallia quake!

Gods!

Gods! with what joy, what honest pride,
Did each fond, wishing, rustic Bride,
Behold her manly swain return!
How did her love-sick bosom burn,
Tho' on Parades he was not bred,
Nor wore the livery of red,
When, Pleasure height'ning all her charms,
She strain'd her Warrior in her arms,
And begg'd, whilst Love and Glory fire,
A Son, a Son just like his Sire!

Such were the Men, in former times,

Ere Luxury had made our crimes

Our bitter Punishment, who bore

Their terrors to a foreign shore;

Such were the men, who, free from dread,

By Edwards, and by Henries led,

Spread, like a torrent swell'd with rains,

O'er haughty Gallia's trembling plains;

Such were the Men, when lust of Pow'r,

To work him woe, in evil hour

Debauch'd the Tyrant from those ways

On which a King should found his praise,

When

When stern Oppression, hand in hand With PRIDE, stalk'd proudly thro' the land; When weeping Justice was misled From her fair course, and Mercy dead; Such were the Men, in Virtue strong, Who dar'd not see their Country's wrong, Who left the mattock, and the spade, And, in the robes of War array'd, In their rough arms, departing, took Their helpless babes, and with a look Stern and determin'd, swore to see Those babes no more, or see them free: Such were the Men, whom Tyrant Pride Could never fasten to his side By threats or bribes, who, Freemen born, Chains, tho' of gold, beheld with fcorn, Who, free from ev'ry servile awe; Could never be divorc'd from Law, From that broad gen'ral Law, which Sense Made for the general defence; Could never yield to partial ties Which from dependant stations rife; Could never be to Slav'ry led, For Property was at their head.

Such

Such were the Men, in days of yore, Who, call'd by Liberty, before Her Temple, on the facred green In Martial pastimes oft were seen — Now feen no longer-in their stead. To laziness and vermin bred. A Race, who strangers to the cause Of Freedom, live by other laws, In other motives fight, a prey To interest, and slaves for pay. VALOUR, how glorious on a plan Of Honour founded, leads their Van; DISCRETION, free from taint of fear, Cool, but refolv'd, brings up their rear, DISCRETION, VALOUR'S better half; Dependance holds the Gen'ral's Staff.

In plain and home-fpun garb array'd,
Not for vain shew, but service made,
In a green flourishing old age,
Not damn'd yet with an Equipage,
In rules of Porterage untaught,
Simplicity, not worth a groat,

For

For years had kept the Temple door;

Full on his breast a glass he wore,

Thro' which his bosom open lay

To ev'ry one who pass'd that way.

Now turn'd adrift—with humbler face

But prouder heart, his vacant place

Corruption fills, and bears the key;

No entrance now without a see.

Which on the house reslected grace,

Which on the house reslected grace,

Full of good fare, and honest glee,

The Steward Hospitality,

Old Welcome, smiling by his side,

A good, old Servant, often tried

And faithful found, who kept in view

His Lady's same and int'rest too,

Who made each heart with joy rebound,

Yet never run her State a ground,

Was turn'd off, or (which word I find

Is more in modern use) resign'd.

In beggary, with carrion fed, and the chipped more staff

G Detefted,

Detested, and detesting all,

Made up of Avarice, and Gall,

Boasting great thrist, yet wasting more

Than ever Steward did before,

Succeeded One, who to engage

The praise of an exhausted age,

Assumed a name of high degree,

And call'd himself Oeconomy.

Within the Temple, full in fight,
Where, without ceasing, day and night,
The Workmen toil'd, where Labour bar'd
Her brawny arm, where Art prepar'd,
In regular and even rows,
Her types, a Printing-Press arose,
Each Workman knew his task, and each
Was honest, and expert as Leach.

Hence Learning struck a deeper root,

And Science brought forth riper fruit;

Hence Loyalty receiv'd support,

Even when banish'd from the Court;

Hence Government was strength; and hence

Religion sought, and sound defence;

Hence

Hence England's fairest same arose, And Liberty subdued her soes.

CORRUPTION (who, in former times,
Thro' fear or shame conceal'd her crimes,
And what She did, contriv'd to do it
So that the Public might not view it)
Presumptuous grown, unfit was held
For their dark councils, and expell'd,
Since in the day her business might
Be done as safe as in the night.

Her eye down-bending to the ground,

Planning some dark and deadly wound,

Holding a dagger, on which stood,

All fresh and reeking, drops of blood,

Bearing a lanthorn, which of yore,

By which, since they improv'd in trade,

Excisemen have their lanthorns made,

Assassination, her whole mind

Vile instruments, which cowards chuse,

Oppression, willing to appear
An object of our love, not fear,
Or at the most a rev'rend awe

A Book she held, on which her eyes
Were deeply fix'd, whence seem'd to rise
Joy in her breast; a Book, of might
Most wonderful, which black to white
Could turn, and without help of laws,
Could make the worse the better cause.

She wish'd, and what She wish'd, believ'd,

Might longer last, to work the bane

Of one firm Patriot, whose heart, tied
To Honour, all their pow'r defied,

They wish'd to have conceal'd in Night.

His front, with ten-fold plates of brass Secur'd, SHAME never yet could pass, Nor on the surface of his skin, Blush for that guilt which dwelt within. How often, in contempt of Laws, To found the bottom of a cause, To fearch out ev'ry rotten part, And worm into its very heart, Hath he ta'en briefs on false pretence, And undertaken the defence Of trusting Fools, whom in the end He meant to ruin, not defend? How often, e'en in open Court, Hath the wretch made his shame his sport, And laugh'd off, with a Villain's ease, Throwing up briefs, and keeping fees, Such things, as, tho' to roguery bred, Had struck a little Villain dead?

Fools

Fools He forgives, but rogues he fears; If Genius, yok'd with Worth, appears, His weak foul fickens at the fight, And strives to plunge them down in night.

So loud he talks, fo very loud, He is an Angel with the crowd, Whilst he makes Justice hang her head, And Judges turn from pale to red.

Bid all that Nature, on a plan
Most intimate, makes near to Man,
All that with grand and gen'ral ties
Binds good and bad, the Fool and Wise,
Knock at his heart; They knock in vain,
No entrance there such Suitors gain.
Bid kneeling Kings forsake the throne;
Bid at his feet his Country groan;
Bid Liberty stretch out her hands,
Religion plead her stronger bands;
Bid Parents, Children, Wise, and Friends;
If they come thwart his private ends,
Unmov'd he hears the gen'ral call,
And bravely tramples on them all.

Who

Who will, for him, may cant and whine,
And let weak Conscience with her line
Chalk out their ways; such starving rules
Are only fit for coward fools,
Fellows who credit what Priests tell,
And tremble at the thoughts of Hell;
His Spirit dares contend with Grace,
And meets Damnation face to face.

Such was our Lawyer; by his fide
In all bad qualities allied,
In all bad Counsels, sat a Third,
By birth a Lord; O sacred word!
O word most sacred, whence Men get
A Privilege to run in debt,
Whence They at large exemption claim
From Satire, and her servant Shame;
Whence They, deprived of all her sorce,
Forbid bold Truth to hold her course.
